To whom it may concern,

Paragraphs 7.3.2 to 7.3.3 of the of the Terms and Conditions for the Sixth Competition under the Renewable Electricity Support Scheme state:

> 7.3.2 […] The competitive analysis undertaken by the Regulatory Authority for this purpose may consider certain factors including the distribution of ownership and commonality of control, pivotal supplier considerations, other market concentration considerations, and other factors as the Regulatory Authority in its sole discretion deems appropriate.
>
> 7.3.3 If the Regulatory Authority indicates to the Minister that the results of this competitive analysis suggest there is insufficient competition with which to conduct an auction in respect of either or both Pots, the Minister may publish a statement to this effect before the RESS 6 Auction Submission Deadline Date. Otherwise, the Final Competition Ratios will be published by the Regulatory Authority no later than the provisional auction results date (as described in the RESS 6 Auction Timetable). The publication of the Final Competition Ratio will be subject to the approval of the Minister.

Pursuant to paragraph 7.3 of the Terms and Conditions for the Sixth Competition under the Renewable Electricity Support Scheme, the CRU determined the following Final Competition Ratios:

Final Competition Ratio (solar)	1.75
Final Competition Ratio (onshore wind)	1.87

Yours sincerely,
